PART VI—Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 12th April 1945:—

L. A. BILL No. 21 OF 1945.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (V of 1908), for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be called the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1944.

2. Amendment of Section 103, Act V of 1908.—To section 103 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (V of 1908) the following shall be added, namely:—

"or of which the determination by such courts though not vitiated by such illegality, omission, error or defect, has in the opinion of the High Court, been plainly erroneous, perverse or unjust".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure deals with the grounds of Second Appeal in civil suits. The grounds given there are as follows:—

(a) The decision being contrary to law or to some usage having the force of law;

(b) the decision having failed to determine some material issue of law or usage having the force of law;

(c) a substantial error or defect in the procedure provided by this code or by any other law for the time being in force which may possibly have produced error or defect in the decision of the case on merits.

Section 103 defines the powers of the High Court in Second Appeals. According to this section the High Court may in the Second Appeal determine any issue of fact—"which has been wrongly determined by such (lower appellate) court by reason of any illegality, omission, or error or defect such as is referred to in Sub-section (1) of Section 100". Thus by reading the two sections together we find that the restrictions imposed by Section 100 of the Criminal Procedure Code are binding not on a party to the appeal but they restrict the power of the High Court as well. This restriction has been clearly appreciated by Their Lordships of the Privy Council. They in 1929 A.I.R., P.C., p. 1521 approved of the observation made by the Judges of the Calcutta High Court reported in 18 Calcutta L.R., p. 25.

"It is enough in the present case to say that an erroneous finding of the fact is a different thing from the an error or defect in proceeding and there is no jurisdiction to entertain a Second Appeal on the ground of erroneous finding of fact however gross or inexcusable the error may seem to be". The Learned Judges of the Calcutta High Court used the words "however gross or inexcusable the error may seem to be", but if we were to use the word "however gross or inexcusable the error may really be", the jurisdiction of the High Court would not be extended. This is an anomaly. The High Court of Justice unable to put right a palpable wrong committed by courts subordinate to itself, is a position which cannot be justified on any principle. This is so even if the trial court has decided the matter correctly and it is the lower appellate court who has committed the mistake. In case of the First Appeals which are heard by the High Court, if the judgment of the trial court is upset, an appeal lies to the Privy Council on a question of fact also, and even in cases in which the High Court confirms the decision of the trial court, the powers of the Privy Council are not so restricted and Section 112, C.P.C., gives them sufficient power to deal with the matter at their discretion. But so far as Section 100 is concerned, it does not make any difference even on that basis. There is an evident difference between a finding of fact arrived at concurrently by two courts and a finding in which the lower appellate court has differed from the first court. One must attach great sanctity to the decision of the trial court on facts, because it had the advantage of recording the evidence and watching the demeanour of the witnesses, but the same sanctity cannot be attached to the judgment of the First Appellate Court when it chooses to set aside the finding of the trial court. There is little difference between the first and second appellate court on this count, and if there can be difference it is that generally the second appellate court is more efficient and experienced than the first one. As pointed out this principle is recognised in appeals to the Privy Council. On a smaller scale this principle has been recognised even by the U. P. Land Revenue Act, Section 210 of which allows Second Appeals on the ground that "the original order has in appeal been varied, cancelled or reversed".

In 1939 I introduced a Bill in the Assembly in which I sought an amendment of section 100, C.P.C., by the addition of the following to sub-section (1)—

"(d) the original decree of the trial court having in appeal been varied, cancelled or reversed:

Provided that a High Court while hearing a second appeal on any of the grounds (a), (b) or (c), may in its discretion determine the correctness or otherwise of the decision on points of fact also, if it thinks that the decision of the court below is erroneous or unjust."

In the Statement of Objects and Reasons of that Bill I traced the whole history of the Second Appeals, and the reasons for restrictions and the way in which the rigour of the law had been softened by the High Courts in actual practice. But this depends upon the temperament of the individual judges and is a factor that cannot be relied upon. That Bill was circulated for eliciting opinion. The public opinion was overwhelmingly in favour of the Bill but the majority of the High Court Judges and the Government were against the Bill mainly on the ground that the amendment sought for would increase the work in the High Court. So I did not proceed further with the Bill, and want to introduce this as a measure of compromise, by which I mean to give no additional rights to the parties to an appeal but only remove an undue restriction on the powers of the High Court. This it is expected would help the administration of justice to some extent without increasing the amount of work.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 12th April 1945:—

L. A. BILL No. 14 OF 1945.

A Bill further to amend the Aligarh Muslim University Act, 1920.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Aligarh Muslim University Act, 1920, for the purpose hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be called the Aligarh Muslim University (Amendment) Act, 19 .

2. Amendment of Section 5, Act XL of 1920.—After sub-clause (b) of clause (3) of section 5 of the Aligarh Muslim University Act, 1920, the word "or" shall be inserted, and the following new sub-clause shall be inserted, namely:

"(c) in case of examinations conducted by the Faculty of Theology shall have pursued a course of study in an institution."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

There exists at present a great desire among the Muslims that the Aligarh Muslim University like the Benares University should conduct examinations in Theology and permit the students who have prosecuted their courses of studies in recognised Theological Institutions to appear in the examinations. The scope of sub-clause 5(3) is extended by this amendment to permit the students of Arabic Schools to appear in Theology Examinations conducted by the Aligarh Muslim University.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 12th April 1945:—

L. A. BILL, No. 15 OF 1945.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908), for the purpose hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title, extent and commencement.—(1) This Act may be called the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 19 .

(2) It shall come into force from the date it receives the assent of the Governor General of India in Council.

(3) It extends to the whole of British India.

2. Amendment of Section 54, Act V of 1908.—At the end of section 54 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908), the following, shall be added:

"and the Collector or any Gazetted subordinate, so deputed shall comply with the requirements within a period not more than 12 months from the receipt of the proceedings for partition."

3. Amendment of Rule 1 of the Third Schedule, Act V of 1908.—At the end of rule 1 of the third schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908), the following proviso shall be added:

"Provided that subject to all the rules and procedure of this schedule or any other law in force in British India for the time being, every sale required to be made by the Collector or his subordinate, in execution of the decree, transferred to the collector under section 68 of this Code, shall be made within a period not exceeding 12 months from the date of the receipt of the decree for execution."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

At present making of partition and executing the decrees by the collector and his subordinates are delayed inordinately and in various cases they are delayed for years on end.

This is an abuse of process and is most detrimental to the interests of the parties. After transferring the decrees or directing partition courts feel themselves helpless to have the partition done or decrees executed expeditiously, since there is no statutory time limit within which the collector should perform the needful executions. Therefore they remain pending for years, frustrating the very object of them.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 12th April 1945:—

L. A. BILL No. 20 OF 1945.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), for the purpose hereinafter appearing:

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title, extent and commencement.—(1) This Act may be called the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 19 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force at once.

2. Amendment of Section 14, Act V of 1898.—(1) In section 14 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), in sub-section (1) after the word "may", the words "with the previous consent of the High Court" shall be inserted; and

(2) After sub-section (4) the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

"(5) No person shall be appointed by any Provincial Government an Honorary or Special Magistrate of any class or shall remain in office against whom there has been a final finding of a Judicial Court of his having been corrupt or of his having the reputation of being corrupt or in the habit of deciding cases dishonestly."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 14 of the Criminal Procedure Code was enacted at a time when there were no autonomous Provincial Governments and the Government of India Act of 1935 was not passed. Magisterial powers are Judicial Powers under the general supervision of the Honourable High Court in a province and this Court is primarily responsible to give Kings justice to the people. In a recent case, Criminal Revision No. 1678 of 1943, the Honourable the High Court, Punjab, Lahore, declared an Honorary Sub-Judge (Rai Bahadur Pandit Shridutt) to be corrupt and having the reputation of being a corrupt Honorary Sub-Judge and deciding the cases of his own relations and friends with dishonesty. Consequently upon this judgment of the High Court the said Honorary Sub-Judge had to vacate his office as Honorary Sub-Judge. In utter defiance and disrespect of the findings of the High Court of the Punjab the Provincial Government of the Punjab conferred upon the said Rai Bahadur Pandit Shridutt powers of an Honorary Magistrate of the second class thereby giving him greater scope to extend his corrupt practices.

In view of the above instance and other considerations the amendment of section 14 of the Criminal Procedure Code as pointed out in the Bill is necessitated.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 12th April 1945:—

L. A. BILL No. 18 OF 1945.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Penal Code (XLV of 1860) for the purpose hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short Title.—This Act may be called the Indian Penal Code (Amendment) Act, 1944.

2. Amendment of section 302, Act XLV of 1860.—In section 302 of the Indian Penal Code (XLV of 1860) and wherever else the words "transportation for lfie' occur in the said Code, substitute the following words:—

"imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to fourteen years".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The punishment to which offenders are liable under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code are given in Section 53 of the said Code and are as follows:—

First—Death,
Secondly—Transportation,
Thirdly—Penal Servitude,
Fourthly—Imprisonment which is of two descriptions, namely—

1. Rigorous, that is with hard labour and
2. Simple.

Fifthly—Forfeiture of property and Sixthly—Fine.

Transportation can be for any period and may even extend for life. It was intended to be a separate and distinct punishment. The original object of transportation was two-fold. Firstly it was intended to be a deterrent punishment as the idea of transportation to Black Waters was generally abhorred by the Indians and secondly to colonise the places which were expected to develop considerably by the import of labourer. The author of the original conception of an Indian Penal Settlement was Sir Stamford Raffles who about the year 1787, first introduced convicts into Sumatra to develop that island. After the rendition of Sumatra to the Dutch in 1825, the Indian prisoners were transported to the Straits Settlement to supplement the supply of free labour there. This continued for about 25 years and when the needs of that Colony for this form of assistance had outgrown, the choice fell finally on the Andamans is 1858 and the present settlement was opened at Port Blair.

In 1919 the Government of India appointed a Committee to enquire into the conditions of jails in India and also to make recommendations in respect of the Penal Settlement in the Andamans. This Committee is known as the Indian Jails Committee. That Committee was very much dissatisfied with the conditions of prisoners in the Andamans. They found "the moral atmosphere of the Settlement.....thoroughly unhealthy" (para. 548). They observed that "We therefore, decided that if any fresh attempt at colonisation was to be made, it must be in an entirely new locality" (para. 553). They examined the possibility of improvement in the Andamans or the selection of some other settlement for the purpose. After a close examination of the question they found themselves against any recommendation of a fresh settlement even.

In this connection they observed:—

"There can moreover be no reasonable doubt that it must always be more expensive to transport a prisoner to the Andamans and to guard, feed, clothe and otherwise maintain him there than it would be to keep him in his own province in India..... If a proper establishment is in future maintained, the cost per head, which has always normally much exceeded that of a prisoner in an Indian jail will generally increase" (para. 559).

Dealing with the necessity of transportation on moral grounds they observed "We are not convinced that any sufficient reason exists to justify the undertaking of such large expenditure. The great majority of persons who are deported to the Andamans do not belong to the worst or most dangerous class of Indian criminal. Out of the total population of 12,000 about 2/3rd or 8,000 are persons who have been convicted of murder. The crime of murder in the absence of extenuating circumstances usually results in capital punishment and when this sentence is not imposed, it is often the case that the offence is what is frequently referred to in penological literature as "Crime Passionel". The men who commit these crimes are often some of the least corrupted members of the prison population, and there is therefore no special reason why they should be selected for deportation to Andamans. They might quite as well be retained to undergo their sentences in an Indian prison and a circumstance which bears materially upon this point is the fact that under the present conditions out of every hundred prisoners who are sentenced to transportation not more than fifty are actually deported to the Andamans owing to the stringent rules which have been laid down in consequence of the labour requirements and health conditions of the settlement. It seems to us therefore that if half of the prisoners who are now sentenced to transportation already remain in India, other half, who at present are deported, should not with some exceptions, the nature of which is noticed below, also remain in India". The exceptions pointed out by the Committee are the frontier fanatics and desperate dacoits who are a source of danger to the security of life and property in the locality to which they belong and to whose retention in Indian Jails they attributed some of the misuse of fetters and other means of restraints which they had noticed in some of the provinces.

As to the deterrent effect of the sentence of transportation the Committee observed "..... Experience has however, proved that the deterrent effect, if it ever existed, has long since ceased to operate. It is a well known fact which is borne out by the evidence by many witnesses that prisoners under life sentences commonly request as a favour from the Inspecting Officers that they shall be sent away to the Andamans". Summarising their views the Committee says:— "As deportation to Andamans has lost its deterrent effect, as it involves increased cost, as it exposes the prisoners to depressing climatic conditions, and in the case of average prisoners it is not needed from the administrative point of view, we fail to see what necessity there is for its continuance in respect of the great majority of prisoners who are now sent there."

The Committee recommended the abolition of the punishment of transportation and in pursuance thereof a Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly by Sir William Vincent in September 1922. In this Bill an attempt was made to deal with each offence separately and varying terms of imprisonment were proposed as equivalent to the varying periods of transportation according to the nature and gravity of the offence. Sir William Vincent in the Statement of Objects and Reasons stated:—

"As a result of the report of the Indian Jails Committee the Governor General in Council proposes to abolish transportation as a form of judicial punishment, and the Bill is designed to give effect to this decision. Sentences of transportation under the various laws concerned are usually admissible as alternatives to some other form of punishment. These alternatives are so various that it has been decided that the only practicable method of proceeding is to fix in the case of each offence the sentence of imprisonment which shall be substituted for a sentence of transportation for life or for a less period, if such less period is specified....."

The Bill was circulated for eliciting opinion thereon and then referred to a Select Committee of which Sir Malcolm Haily was also a member. The Select Committee took the view that a simple provision prescribing a sentence of imprisonment as equivalent to a sentence of transportation would cause great hardship to the prisoners as the sentence of transportation for a term of years was in practice a lighter sentence than rigorous imprisonment for the same number of years. Provisions of facilities to the prisoners sentenced for long term years would involve great costs to the Provincial Governments and before proceeding further their consultation was necessary. They observed "that the existing law, providing as it does for long term of imprisonment, is itself unsatisfactory, and to amend that law in such way as to extend term of imprisonment of this kind would be an undesirable step".

Sir Henry Stanyon, one of the members of the Committee, wrote an elaborate note on the subject which had the approval of the members of the Committee. In his note he said:—As regards rigorous imprisonment, I agree in the view put forward, chiefly by the Honourable Judges of the Madras High Court that long continued imprisonment with hard labour is to be deprecated. The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Coutts Trotter has written "you require altogether different conditions for a short and a long sentence. The short sentence aims at a sharp and uncomfortable punishment, and so long as it is short, it may properly be made rigorous that is to say extremely—uncomfortable to the actual delinquent—in the hope of reforming him. The long sentence is passed either on account of the great gravity of the offence requiring a deterrent sentence in its length for the warning of the community at large—or on account of the proved recidivist tendencies of the prisoner, which render it necessary to remove him out of mischief.....conditions which would be salutary as a sharp lesson, say for two years, would be mere savagery if imposed for 20 where the real object was to remove the offender, I think this is sound penology. It has been long recognised in England, where hard labour cannot be imposed on a convict for more than two years. For any longer term of imprisonment he [illegible] jected to much less arduous conditions of [illegible] servitude".

The scheme of Sir Henry Stanyon was to su[illegible] divide rigorous and simple imprisonment into tw[illegible] further classes, thus—

Rigorous—
- Class I i.e., with hard labour
- Class II i.e., with moderate labour

Simple—
- Class I i.e., with light work and degrada[illegible] tion
- Class II i.e., mere confinement withou[illegible] degradation or compulsory work.

For transportation for life he kept a period of 20 years of imprisonment and for other period of transportation the same period of imprisonmen[illegible]

In each case, however, R. I. class I was to b[illegible] given for 3 years, the next 4 years were to be rigorous class II and the rest of simple imprison ment class I.

As to simple imprisonment class II Sir Henry observed, "I would reserve simple imprisonment class II for offenders whom it may be necessary to deprive of their liberty for political and other crimes not involving moral depravity, and whose position, caste, antecedents or the like may render it proper to exempt them from the ordinary degradation of incarceration in jail. But this is a detail which may be left to the discretion of the courts".

Sir Henry Stanyon wondered as to why the courts in India never looked to the provisions of section 60 of the Penal Code according to which they could award varying terms of rigorous and simple imprisonment in each case and observed "the probable reason for this omission being the wide gulf which divides the judicial and general estimates, punitive values and appropriate use of the two forms of imprisonment to which section 60 refers".

However, it was for these reasons that the Committee recommended that the Bill "be not proceeded with pending the consultation with local Governments we have advised and that as soon as possible thereafter the Bill should be revised and presented before the Legislatures". The revised Bill however never came up before the Assembly.

Thus we find the attempt of the Select Committee in reducing the rigour of the hard labour of the prisoners resulted in the postponement of the whole Bill.

It is thus clear that as early as 1922 the Government of India had decided to abolish the punishment for transportation but had given up the task as they thought that by adopting a simple formula of commutation as contained in section 55 of the Indian Penal Code, they were likely to increase the severity of the sentence passed on the prisoner. Section 55 provides that the Government can 'without the consent of the offenders' commute the sentence of transportation for life to imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding 14 years. In practice, however, even at that time more than 50 per cent. of the prisoners under the sentence of transportation were kept in jails and now that the transportation has, due to the present conditions, become out of question, all the prisoners of that class are kept in jails.

The deletion of the word 'transportation' from the Penal Code would thus result in no practical change so far as the administration of prisons is concerned, I hope a time will come when the scheme of Sir Henry Stanyon or some other such scheme will be worked out for the reform of the prisons.

The object of the present Bill is, however, a limited one. It will cause no change whatever so far as administration is concerned, but will give relief to the prisoners concerned, as well as relieve the Government of the higher costs of transportation even if transportation become near future. It had been shown at the ...at transportation is a distinct punish- ...nd the courts have no power to commute ...portation into a term of imprisonment. In ... cases great hardship is involved to persons ... and guilty under section 302 due to transporta- ...ion for life being the only alternative to the death sentence provided by that section. Many cases of riots occurred in which the parties fight with each other resulting in, say, death to one member of one of the parties. Say there are ten persons in the opposite party. Under section 302 read with section 149 all the ten are liable at least for transportation for life. This causes sometimes great hardship to the accused and lays a burden on the public purse and the courts are powerless to intervene. Even the High Court cannot reduce the sentence in appeal as has been pointed out above because transportation for life is a punishment different in nature from imprisonment and imprisonment is not provided in section 302. A study of part one of section 304 would make this point still more clear. It provides for transportation for life or imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years. The court has got no power to award imprisonment of 11 or 12 years. There is no intermediate between transportation for life and imprisonment for ten years. By the substitution of imprisonment for a term of years for transportation for life we will leave it in the power of the courts and specially the High Court to reduce the sentence to proper limits within their discretion. I have kept a period of 14 years as equivalent to 'transportation for life' as provided by section 55 of the Indian Penal Code. Any change in this term for good reasons would be acceptable to me.

(b) where the producer's plant is laid out in two or more different sections for different classes of work, that is to say for coarse yarn and fine yarn with combers, each such section shall be deemed to be a separate plant;

(c) where any part of the spinning plant is employed exclusively for the performance of any contract with the Crown such part shall if the producer so elects be deemed not to form a part of the plant and nothing in this clause shall apply in relation to the production of any yarn in pursuance of such contract; and the producer shall be deemed to have employed a part of the plant exclusively for the performance of any such contract where it is employed for the production of yarn for being supplied to any person under contract with the Crown to utilise such yarn for the production of any article for sale to the Crown and the producer has submitted to the Textile Commissioner a report in writing stating the quantity, counts, period of delivery and the consignee of such yarn and the number of spindles employed and the period requisite for the production of such yarn.

(2) Nothing in this clause shall apply to the production by a producer on a waste spinning plant of waste yarns of 6s or coarser.

4. No producer shall in any month utilise less than 90 per cent. of his entire weaving energy as expressed in loom-hours for the production of utility cloth;

8. No producer shall produce cloth of more than 3 varieties; provided that if he has more than 100 looms, he may produce cloth of 3 additional varieties for every additional 100 looms in his possession.

For the purposes of this clause, cloth shall be deemed to be of the same variety if it is woven in the same counts of yarn in warp and weft and in the same reed and pick notwithstanding that it is woven in different widths and patterns.

9. No producer shall in any month produce new varieties in excess of the number represented by 1 per cent. of the looms in his possession.

10. The Textile Commissioner may, by a special or general order and subject to such conditions as may be specified therein, wholly or partially exempt any producer or class of producers from the operation of all or any of the provisions of this Order.

FEDERAL PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION.

APPLICATIONS are invited from candidates with "war service" possessing the requisite qualifications for reserved vacancies in the Indian Civil Service, Indian Police, Burma Civil Service (Class I), Burma Police (Class I) and the Burma Frontier Service. (In the case of candidates of Burman domiciled or descent preference will be given to those with war service, but candidates without war service are also eligible.) A pamphlet has been printed giving details of the recruitment arrangements, the recruitment regulations, and the conditions of service. For those candidates serving with the Armed Forces special arrangements have been made to supply them with copies of the pamphlet through their units. Qualified candidates not in the forces can obtain a copy of the pamphlet by application to the Secretary, Federal Public Service Commission, 10, Underhill Lane, Delhi; and also a copy of the prescribed application form. Officers released for service with the civil administration under Special India Army Order No. 12/8/44 who desire to compete for permanent appointment in any of the above Services must apply in the same way as "war service" candidates generally. The qualifications required of intending candidates are broadly speaking as follows. (Full details will be found in the pamphlet). Age. A candidate must have been born on or after August 2nd, 1915 (or August 2nd, 1917, in the case of the Indian Police and the Burma Police) and must have attained the age of 21 (or 19 in the case of the Indian Police and the Burma Police). Education. Candidates educated predominantly in the United Kingdom must have received whole-time, continuous and systematic education up to the age of 18 or the date of joining His Majesty's Forces or the Merchant Navy or Mercantile Marine whichever is earlier and if a candidate for the Indian Civil Service, Burma Civil Service or the Burma Frontier Service, must have reached a standard which qualifies him for admission to a university, or if a candidate for the Indian Police or the Burma Police, must have passed the School Certificate or equivalent examination. Candidates educated predominantly in India must, if a candidate for the Indian Police, have passed the Intermediate or equivalent examination; and, if a candidate for the Indian Civil Service, have obtained a degree of an approved university but this requirement may be relaxed in favour of a candidate who has passed the Intermediate or equivalent examination if the Federal Public Service Commission is satisfied that but for his having undertaken "war service", he would have continued his education and might have been expected to obtain a degree. Candidates for the Burma Services educated predominantly in India or Burma must have passed the Intermediate Examination of an Indian University or of the Rangoon University, or have obtained the Cambridge Senior School Certificate, provided that this requirement may be relaxed if a candidate can show to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State for Burma that he was prevented by the invasion of Burma from obtaining the required qualification. War Service. In respect of candidates resident in India or Burma during the war, whole-time service of the following kind has been recognised as "war service":—(i) service of any kind in a unit or formation liable for service overseas or in any operational area; (ii) service in India or Burma under military, munitions or stores authorities with a liability to serve overseas or in any operational area; (iii) service involving subjection to Naval, Military or Air Force Law; (iv) a period of training with a military unit or formation involving liability to serve overseas or in any operational area; (v) service in recognised Civil Defence organisations; and (vi) any service connected with the prosecution of the war which a person is required to undertake by competent authority under provision of any law for the time being in force. Applications for the Indian Services should be submitted to the authorities mentioned in the application form within six months of the date of issue of the Regulations, i.e., 1st June 1945, or of the date of a candidate's becoming qualified, whichever is later. If the question has arisen previous to or in the hearing, the District Court may either stay such proceedings, or proceed in the case pending such reference and pass a decree contingent upon the opinion of the High Court upon it.

If a decree or order has been made, its execution shall be stayed until the receipt of the order of the High Court upon such reference.

10. Restrictions on petitions for divorce during first three years after marriage.—(1) No petition for divorce shall be presented to a Court unless at the date of the presentation of the petition, three years have passed since the date of the marriage:

Provided that a Court may, upon application being made to it in accordance with the rules of the High Court allow a petition to be presented before three years have passed on the ground that the case is one of exceptional hardship suffered by the petitioner or of exceptional depravity on the part of the respondent; but if it appears to the Court at the hearing of the petition, that the petitioner obtained leave to present the petition by any misrepresentation or concealment of the nature of the case, the Court may, if it pronounces a decree nisi, do so subject to the condition that no application to make the decree absolute shall be made until after the expiration of three years from the date of the marriage, or may dismiss the petition, without prejudice to any petition which may be brought after the expiration of the said three years upon the same, or substantially the same, facts as those proved in support of the petition so dismissed.

(2) In determining any application under this section for leave to present a petition before the expiration of three years from the date of the marriage, the Judge shall have regard to the interests of any children of the marriage and to the question whether there is reasonable probability of a reconciliation between the parties before the expiration of the said three years.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the presentation of a petition based upon matters which have occurred before the expiration of three years from the date of the marriage.

11. Grounds of petition for divorce.—A petition for divorce may be presented to a Court either by the husband or the wife on the ground that the respondent—

(a) has since the celebration of the marriage committed adultery; or

(c) has since the celebration of the marriage treated the petitioner with cruelty; or

(d) is incurably of unsound mind and has been continuously under care and treatment for a period of at least five years immediately preceding the presentation of the petition; and by the wife on the ground that her husband has, since the celebration of the marriage, been guilty of rape, sodomy or bestiality.

13. Provision as to making adulterer co-respondent.—(1) On a petition for divorce presented by the husband or in the answer of a husband praying for divorce, the petitioner or respondent, as the case may be, shall make the alleged adulterer a co-respondent unless he is excused by the Court on special grounds from so doing.

(2) On a petition for divorce presented by the wife, the Court may, if it thinks fit, direct that the person with whom the husband is alleged to have committed adultery be made a respondent.

14. Duty of Court on presentation of petition for divorce.—(1) On a petition for divorce, it shall be the duty of the Court to inquire, so far as it reasonably can, into the facts alleged and whether there has been any connivance or condonation on the part of the petitioner and whether any collusion exists between the parties and also to inquire into any countercharge which is made against the petitioner.

(2) If the Court is satisfied on the evidence that—

(i) the case for the petition has been proved; and

(ii) where the ground of the petition is adultery, the petitioner has not in any manner been accessory to, or connived at, or condoned the adultery, or where the ground of the petition is cruelty the petitioner has not in any manner condoned the cruelty; and

(iii) the petition is not presented or prosecuted in collusion with the respondent or either of the respondents;

the Court shall pronounce a decree of divorce, but if the Court is not satisfied with respect to any of the aforesaid matters, it shall dismiss the petition;

Provided that the Court shall not be bound to pronounce a decree of divorce and may dismiss the petition, if it finds that the petitioner has during the marriage been guilty of adultery or if, in the opinion of the Court, the petitioner has been guilty—

(a) of unreasonable delay in presenting or prosecuting the petition; or

(b) of cruelty towards the other party to the marriage; or

(c) where the ground of the petition is adultery or cruelty, of having without reasonable excuse deserted, or having without reasonable excuse wilfully separated himself or herself from, the other party before the adultery or cruelty complained of; or

(d) where the ground of the petition is adultery or unsoundness of mind or desertion, of such wilful neglect or misconduct as has conduced to the adultery or unsoundness of mind or desertion.

15. Dismissal of respondent or co-respondent from proceedings.—In any case in which, on the petition of a husband for divorce, the alleged adulterer is made a co-respondent or in which, on the petition of a wife for divorce, the person with whom the husband is alleged to have committed adultery is made a respondent, the Court may, after the close of the evidence on the part of the petitioner, direct the co-respondent or the respondent, as the case may be, to be dismissed from the proceedings, if the Court is of opinion that there is not sufficient evidence against him or her.

16. Relief to respondent on petition for divorce.—If in any proceedings for divorce, the respondent opposes the relief sought, in the case of proceedings instituted by the husband, on the ground of his adultery, cruelty or desertion or, in the case of proceedings instituted by the wife, on the ground of her adultery, cruelty or desertion, the Court may give to the respondent the same relief to which he or she would have been entitled if he or she had presented a petition seeking such relief.

17. Decree nisi for divorce or nullity of marriage.—(1) Every decree for divorce or for nullity of marriage shall, in the first instance, be a decree nisi not to be made absolute until after the expiration of six months from the pronouncing thereof, unless the court by general or special order from time to time fixes a shorter time.

(2) After the pronouncing of the decree nisi and before the decree is made absolute, any person may, in the prescribed manner, show cause why the decree should not be made absolute by reason of the decree having been obtained by collusion or by reason of material facts not having been brought before the court, and in any such case the court may make the decree absolute, reverse the decree nisi, require further inquiry or otherwise deal with the case as the court thinks fit.

(3) Prevention of delay in application for decree absolute.—Where a decree nisi has been obtained, whether before or after the passing of this Act, and no application for the decree to be made absolute has been made by the party who obtained the decree, then at any time after the expiration of three months from the earliest date on which that party could have made such an application, the party against whom the decree nisi has been granted shall be at liberty to apply to the court and the court shall, on such application, have power to make the decree absolute, reverse the decree nisi, require further inquiry or otherwise deal with the case as the court thinks fit.

18. Confirmation of decree for dissolution by District Judge.—Every decree for a dissolution of marriage made by a District Judge shall be subject to confirmation by the High Court:

Provided that no decree shall be confirmed under this section till after the expiration of such time, not less than six months from the pronouncing thereof, as the High Court by general or special order from time to time directs.

During the progres of the suit in the Court of the District Judge, any persons, suspecting that any parties to the suit are or have been acting in collusion for the purpose of obtaining a divorce, shall be at liberty, in such manner as the High Court by general or special order from time to time directs, to apply to the High Court to remove the suit under Section 8, and the High Court shall thereupon, if it thinks fit, remove such suit and try and determine the same as a Court of original jurisdiction, and the provisions contained in Section 17 shall apply to every suit so removed; or it may direct the District Judge to take such steps in respect of the alleged collusion as may be necessary to enable him to make a decree in accordance with the justice of the case.

19. Appointment of officer to exercise duties of King's Proctor.—The Provincial Government of any Province within which any High Court established by Letters Patent exercises jurisdiction, may appoint an officer who shall, within the jurisdiction of the High Court in that Province, have the like right of showing cause why a decree for the dissolution of a marriage should not be made absolute or should not be confirmed, as the case may be, as is exercisable in England by the King's Proctor; and the said Government may make rules regulating the manner in which the right shall be exercised and all matters incidental to or consequential on any exercise of the right.

In relation to the jurisdiction of any such High Court as aforesaid in an Indian State this section shall have effect as if the reference to the Provincial Government was a reference to the Central Government.

20. Grounds for decree of nullity.—(1) In addition to any other grounds on which a marriage is by law void or voidable, a marriage shall be voidable on the ground—

(a) that the marriage has no been consummated owing to the wilful refusal of the respondent to consummate the marriage; or

(b) that either party to the marriage was at the time of the marriage of unsound mind or a mental defective or subject to recurrent fits of insanity or epilepsy; or

(c) that the respondent was at the time of marriage suffering from venereal disease in a communicable form; or

(d) that the respondent was at the time of the marriage pregnant by some person other than the petitioner:

Provided that, in the cases specified in paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this sub-section, the court shall not grant a decree unless it is satisfied—

(i) that the petitioner was at the time of the marriage ignorant of the facts alleged;

(ii) that proceedings were instituted within a year from the date of the marriage; and

(iii) that marital intercourse with the consent of the petitioner has not taken place since the discovery by the petitioner of the existence of the grounds for a decree.

(2) Any child born of a marriage avoided pursuant to paragraph (b) or (c) of the last foregoing sub-section shall be a legitimate child of the parties thereto notwithstanding that the marriage is so avoided.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed as validating any marriage which is by law void, but with respect to which a decree of nullity has not been granted.

21. Confirmation of District Judge's decree.—Every decree of nullity of marriage made by a District Judge shall be subject to confirmation by the High Court, and the provisions of Section 18, shall, mutatis mutandis, apply in such decrees.

22. Proceedings for decree of presumption of death and dissolution of marriage.—(1) Any married person who alleges that reasonable grounds exist for supposing that the other party to the marriage is dead may present a petition to the court to have it presumed that the other party is dead and to have the marriage dissloved, and the court, if satisfied that such reasonable grounds exist, may make a decree of presumption of death and of dissolution of the marriage.

(2) In any such proceedings the fact that for a period of seven years or upwards the other party to the marriage has been continually absent from the petitioner, and the petitioner has no reason to believe that the other party has been living within that time, shall be evidence that he or she is dead until the contrary is proved.

(3) Sections 17, 19 and 43 shall apply to a petition and a decree under this section as they apply to a petition for divorce and a decree of divorce respectively.

23. Decree of judicial separation.—(1) A petition for judicial separation may be presented to the court either by the husband or the wife on any grounds on which a petition for divorce might have been presented, or on the ground of failure to comply with a decree for restitution of conjugal rights or on any ground on which a decree for divorce a mensâ et toro might have been pronounced and the foregoing provisions of this part of this Act relating to the duty of the court on the presentation of a petition for divorce and the circumstances in which such a petition shall or may be granted or dismissed, shall apply in like manner to a petition for judicial separation.

(2) Where the court in accordance with the said provisions grants a decree of judicial separation, it shall no longer be obligatory for the petitioner to cohabit with the respondent.

(3) The court may, on the application by petition of the husband or wife against whom a decree for judicial separation has been made, and on being satisfied that the allegations contained in the petition are true, reverse the decree at any time after the making thereof, on the ground that is was obtained in the absence of the person making the application, or, if desertion was the ground of the decree, that there was reasonable cause for the alleged desertion.

(4) The reversal of a decree for judicial separation shall not affect the rights or remedies which any other person would have had if the decree had not been reversed in respect of any debts, contracts or acts of the wife incurred, entered into or done between the date of the decree and of the reversal thereof.

24. Separated wife deemed spinster with respect to after-acquired property.—In every case of a judicial separation under this Act, the wife shall, from the date of the decree and whilst the separation continues, be considered as unmarried with respect to property of every description which she may acquire, or which may come to or devolve upon her.

Such property may be disposed of by her in all respects as an unmarried woman, and on her decease the same shall, in case she dies intestate, go as the same would have gone if her husband had been then dead:

Provided that, if any such wife, again cohabits with her husband, all such property as she may be entitled to when such cohabitation takes place shall be held to her separate use, subject, however, to any agreement in writing made between herself and her husband whilst separate.

25. Separated wife deemed spinster for purposes of contract and suing.—In every case of a judicial separation under this Act, the wife shall whilst so separated, be considered as an unmarried woman for the purposes of contract, and wrongs and injuries, and suing and being sued in any civil proceeding; and her husband shall not be liable in respect of any contract, act or costs entered into, done, omitted or incurred by her during the separation:

Provided that where, upon any such judicial separation, alimony has been decreed or ordered to be paid to the wife, and the same is not duly paid by the husband, he shall be liable for necessaries supplied for her use;

Provided also that nothing shall prevent the wife from joining at any time during such separation, in the exercise of any joint power given to herself and her husband.

26. Protection of third parties.—(1) Where a wife obtains a decree for judicial separation, the decree shall, so far as may be necessary for the protection of any person dealing with the wife, be valid and effectual until discharged, and the discharge or variation of the decree shall not affect any rights or remedies which any person would have had, if the decree had not been discharged or varied, in respect of any debts, contracts or acts of the wife incurred, entered into or done during the period between the date of the decree and the discharge or variation thereof.

(2) Any person who, in reliance on any such decree as aforesaid, makes any payment to or permits any transfer or act to be made or done by the wife, shall, notwithstanding, the subsequent discharge or variation of the decree, or the fact that the separation has ceased or has been discontinued, be protected and indemnified in the same way in all respects as if at the time of the payment, transfer or other act the decree were valid and still subsisting without variation in full force and effect, or the separation had not ceased or been discontinued, as the case may be, unless at that time that person had notice of the discharge or variation of the decree or that the separation had ceased or been discontinued.

27. Power to vary orders.—The court may from time to time vary or modify any order for the periodical payment of money made under the provisions of this Act relating to matrimonial causes and matters either by altering the times of payment or by increasing or diminishing the amount or may temporarily suspend the order as to the whole or any part of the money ordered to be paid and subsequently revive it wholly or in part, as the court thinks just.

28. Liability of husband seizing wife's property after notice of order.—If the husband, or any creditor of, or person claiming under, the husband, seizes or continues to hold any property of the wife after notice of any such order, he shall be liable, at the suit of the wife (which she is hereby empowered to bring) to return or deliver to her the specific property, and also to pay her a sum equal to double its value.

29. Wife's legal position during continuance of order.—So long as any such order of protection remains in force, the wife shall be and be deemed to have been, during such desertion of her, in the like position in all respects, with regard to property and contracts and suing and being sued, as she would be under this Act if she obtained a decree of judicial separation.

30. Decree for restitution of conjugal rights.—A petition for restitution of conjugal rights may be presented to the Court either by the husband or the wife, and the Court, on being satisfied that the allegations contained in the petition are true, and that there is no legal ground why a decree for restitution of conjugal rights should not be granted, may make the decree accordingly.

31. Periodical payments in lieu of attachment.—(1) A decree for restitution of conjugal rights shall not be enforced by attachment, but where the application is by the wife, the court, at the time of making the decree or at any time afterwards, may, in the event of the decree not being complied with within any time in that behalf limited by the Court, order the respondent to make to the petitioner such periodical payments as may be just, and the order may be enforced in the same manner as an order for alimony in proceedings for judicial separation.

(2) The court may, if it thinks fit, order that the husband shall, to the satisfaction of the court, secure to the wife the periodical payments, and for that purpose may direct that it shall be effected to one of the conveyancing counsel of the court to settle and approve a proper deed or instrument to be executed by all necessary parties.

32. Husband may claim damages from adulterer.—Any husband may, either in a petition for dissolution of marriage or for judicial separation, or in a petition to the District Court or the High Court limited to such object only, claim damages from any person on the ground of his having committed adultery with the wife of such petitioner.

Such petition shall be served on the alleged adulterer and the wife unless the Court dispenses with such service or directs some other service to be substituted.

The damages to be recovered on any such petition shall be ascertained by the said court, although the respondents or either of them may not appear.

After the decision has been given, the Court may direct in what manner such damages shall be paid or applied.

33. Power to order adulterer to pay costs.—Whenever in any petition presented by a husband, the alleged adulterer has been made a co-respondent, and the adulterv has been established, the court may order the co-respondent to pay the whole or any part of the cost of the proceedings:

Provided that the co-respondent shall not be ordered to pay the petitioner's costs—

(1) if the respondent was, at the time of the adultery, living apart from her husband and leading the life of a prostitute, or

(2) if the co-respondent had not, at the time of the adultery, reason to believe the respondent to be a married woman.

Power to order litigious intervenor to pay costs.—Whenever any application is made under Section 18, the Court, if it thinks that the applicant had no grounds or no sufficient grounds for intervening, may order him to pay the whole or any part of the costs occasioned by the application.

34. Alimony.—(1) The court may, if it thinks fit, on any decree for divorce or nullity of marriage, order that the husband shall, to the satisfaction of the court, secure to the wife such gross sum of money or annual sum of money for any term, not exceeding her life as having regard to her fortune, if any, to the ability of her husband and to the conduct of parties, the court may deem to be reasonable, and the court may for that purpose order the preparation of a proper deed or instrument, to be executed by all the necessary parties, and may, if it thinks fit, suspend the pronouncing of the decree until the deed or instrument has been duly executed.

(2) In any such case as aforesaid the court may, if it thinks fit, by order, either in addition to or instead of an order under sub-section (1) of this section, direct the husband to pay to the wife during the joint lives of the husband and the wife such monthly or weekly sum for her maintenance and support as the court may think reasonable:

Provided that—

(a) if the husband, after any such order has been made, becomes from any cause unable to make the payments, the court may discharge or modify the order, or temporarily suspend the order as to the whole or any part of the money ordered to be paid, and subsequently revive it wholly or in part as the court thinks fit; and

(b) where the court has made any such order as is mentioned in this sub-section and the court is satisfied that the means of the husband have increased, the court may, if it thinks fit, increase the amount payable under the order.

(3) On any petition for divorce or nullity of marriage the court shall have the same power to make interim orders for the payment of money by way of alimony or otherwise to the wife as the court has in proceedings for judicial separation.

(4) Where any decree for restitution of conjugal rights or judicial separation is made on the application of the wife, the court may make such order for alimony as the court thinks just.

(5) In all cases where the court makes an order for alimony, the court may direct the alimony to be paid either to the wife or to a trustee approved by the court on her behalf, and may impose such terms or restrictions as the court thinks expedient, and may from time to time appoint a new trustee if for any reasons it appears to the court expedient so to do.

35. Power of court to order settlement of wife's property.—(1) If it appears to the court in any case in which the court pronounces a decree for divorce or for judicial separation by reason of the adultery, desertion or cruelty of the wife that the wife is entitled to any property either in possession or reversion the court may, if it thinks fit, order such settlement as it thinks reasonable to be made of the property, or any part thereof for the benefit of the innocent party, and of the children of the marriage or any or either of them.

Any instrument made under any order of the court made under this section shall be valid and effectual, notwithstanding the existence of coverture at the time of the execution thereof.

(2) Where the application for restitution of conjugal rights is by the husband, and it appears to the court that the wife is entitled to any property, either in possession or reversion, or is in receipt of any profits of trade or earnings, the court may, if it thinks fit, order a settlement to be made to the satisfaction of the court of the property or any part thereof for the benefit of the petitioner and of the children of the marriage or either or any of them or may order such part of the profits of trade or earnings, as the court thinks reasonable, to be periodically paid by the respondent to the petitioner for his own benefit, or to the petitioner or any other person for the benefit of the children of the marriage, or either or any of them.

36. Divorce proceedings after grant of judicial separation or other relief.—(1) A person shall not be prevented from presenting a petition for divorce, or the court from pronouncing a decree of divorce, by reason only that the petitioner has at any time been granted a judicial separation upon the same or substantially the same facts as those proved in support of the petition for divorce.

(2) On any such petition for divorce, the court may treat the decree of judicial separation or the said order as sufficient proof of the adultery, desertion, or other ground on which it was granted but the court shall not pronounce a decree of divorce without receiving evidence from the petitioner.

(3) For the purposes of any such petition for divorce, a period of desertion immediately preceding the institution of proceedings for a decree of judicial separation, if the parties have not resumed cohabitation and the decree or order has been continuously in force since the granting thereof, be deemed immediately to precede the presentation of the petition for divorce.

37. Inquiry into existence of ante-nuptial or post-nuptial settlements.—The High Court, after a decree absolute for dissolution of marriage, or a decree of nullity of marriage, and the District Court, after its decree for dissolution of marriage or of nullity of marriage has been confirmed, may inquire into the existence of ante-nuptial or post-nuptial settlements made on the parties whose marriage is the subject of the decree, and may make such orders, with reference to the application of the whole or a portion of the property settled, whether for the benefit of the husband or the wife, or of the children (if any) of the marriage, or of both children and parents, as to the court seems fit:

Provided that the Court shall not make any order for the benefit of the parents or either of them at the expense of the children.

38. Custody of children.—(1) In any proceedings for divorce or nullity of marriage or judicial separation, the court may from time to time, either before or by or after the final decree, make such provision as appears just with respect to the custody, maintenance and education of the children, the marriage of whose parents is the subject of the proceedings, or, if it things fit, direct proper proceedings to be taken for placing the children under the protection of the court.

(2) On an application made in that behalf the court may, at any time before final decree, in any proceedings for restitution of conjugal rights, or, if the respondent fails to comply therewith, after final decree, make from time to time all such orders and provisions with respect to the custody, maintenance and education of the children of the petitioner, and respondent as might have been made by interim orders if proceedings for judicial separation had been pending between the same parties.

(3) The court may, if it thinks fit, on any decree of divorce or nullity of marriage, order the husband, or (in the case of a petition for divorce by a wife on the ground of her husband's insanity) order the wife, to secure for the benefit of the children such gross sum of money or annual sum of money as the court may deem reasonable, and the court may for that purpose order that it shall be referred to one of the conveyancing counsel of the court to settle and approve a proper deed or instrument to be executed by all necessary parties:

Provided that the term for which any sum of money is secured for the benefit of a child shall not extend beyond the date when the child will attain eighteen years of age.

39. Power to make orders as to custody of children after decree or confimation.—The High Court, after a decree absolute for dissolution of marriage or a decree of nullity of marriage, and the District Court, after a decree for dissolution of marriage or of nullity of marriage, has been confirmed, may, upon application by petition for the purpose, make from time to time all such orders and provision, with respect to the custody, maintenance and education of the minor children, the marriage of whose parents was the subject, of the decree, or for placing such children under the protection of the said Court, as might have been made by such decree absolute or decree (as the case may be), or by such interim orders as aforesaid.

40. Amendments as to maintenance, settlement of property, etc.—(1) When a petition for divorce or nullity of marriage has been presented, proceedings under Sections 30, 31, 38 or sub-section (3) of Section 34 (which respectively confer power on the court to order the provision of alimony, the settlement of the wife's property, the application of property which is the subject of marriage settlements, and the securing of money for the benefit of the children) may, subject to and in accordance with rules of court, be commenced at any time after the presentation of the petition:

Provided that no order under any of the said sections or under the said sub-section (other than an interim order for the payment of alimony under Section 30) shall be made unless and until a decree nisi has been pronounced, and no such order, save in so far as it relates to the preparation, execution, or approval of a deed or instrument and no settlement made in pursuance of any such order, shall take effect unless and until the decree is made absolute.

(2) The said Section 30 shall apply in any case where a petition for divorce or judicial separation is presented by the wife on the ground of her husband's insanity as if for the reference to the husband there were substituted references to the wife, and for the references to the wife there were substituted references to the husband, and in any such case and in any case where a petition for divorce, nullity or judicial separation, is presented by the husband on the ground of his wife's insanity or mental deficiency, the court may order the payments of alimony or maintenance under the said section to be made to such persons having charge of the respondent as the court may direct.

41. STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The grounds of petition for divorce specified in the Bill are:—

(a) adultery,
(b) desertion without cause for 3 years,
(c) cruelty,
(d) incurable insanity,
(e) rape, sodomy, or bestiality on the part of a husband.

No petition for divorce can be presented earlier than three years from the date of the marriage. There are certain other provisions relating to decrees of judicial separation and nullity, which are intended to provide relief from hardship.

In the picturesque language of the preamble to the Matrimonial Causes Act of 1937, this Bill is promoted in the interests of "the true support of marriage, the protection of children, the removal of hardship, the reduction of illicit unions and unseemly litigation and the restoration of due respect for the law".

Behind her apparent life of a mistress of a libertine she leads a perfectly chaste life, for ever cherishing solicitude for her family and hoping for a reconciliation. After her husband's change of fortune, she tries in many ways to help him and her daughter in their sad plight but all her attempts are resisted. She still tries for reconciliation in various ways, but her husband and duaghter although they fully believe in her innocence stubbornly refuse her help for social reasons. Biśva Saṁgrāmer Gati [The Course of the world war]—A collection of articles on the present Totalitarian war and the modern warfare, said to have been originally published in different periodicals. Traces the causes of the repetition of the disastrous conflict after twenty-five years of its first occurrence and of the strategic success which chiefly depends on the scientific application of the political and economical principles, the wrong application of which is one of the causes of war. As a way of illustration, a critical appreciation of the events from the commencement of this conflict has been given and the author arrives at the conclusion that as socialistic and democratic views and ideas both in the spheres of politics and economics are becoming more and more apparent and common, the imperialistic and fascist systems of administration must give way in the long run to a system wholly socialized or to socio-communism as in the U. S. S. R. Published by Sachindranath Mukharji for Bengal Publishers, 14, Bankim Chatarji Street, Calcutta 1943. (20-11-1943.) Pages 1+1+125. Imperial 16mo. 1st edition. Rs. 2-0-0. Copies 1,100.

Bhāratvarṣa O Samājtantrabād [India and Socialism]—Alleged essential utility of socialism is discussed to show that it is of utmost importance for peace, progress and independence. Western civilization of Europe and America and particularly of England, have flourished through exploitation. Because of its aceged inherent greed of exploitation, imperialism cannot ensure the conditions of peace, progress and independence. The discontent over economic inequalities resulting from impealist exploitation is inevitably caused to find expression in war. Socialism cannot ushered in without a change in the existing social conditions, annihilating private property and imperialism, the two great and fundamental social evils. Requisite for this radical change is said to be a revolutionary mentality which is dependent on freedom. Broad forces at work in this present world war, are discussed to show that this war is not a people's war in reality, not even because the Soviet has been involved in it and that because of Russia's weakened state in the present struggle and her treaty commitments, even a Soviet victory at this stage is not likely to help much the progressive forces at work, to lead to socialism, or to ensure India's liberation. Attention is finally drawn to the national and international importance of India's independence. Published by Dilipkumar Biswas, 8, Garpar Road, Calcutta. (11-11-1943). Pākistān. Dwells on the historical necessity of the Pakistan Movement. The idea of Pakistan as a single state, self-governing within the British Empire and being the final destiny of the Muslims of the North Western India, is said to have been originated from Sir Iqbal; but, at present, the word Pakistan means the plan of the division of India on the basic principle of demarcating the geographically contiguous units into areas and regions where the Muslims can be regarded as an independent nation and the Pakistan Movement, therefore, means the movement attempting to establish sovereign and independent Muslim States in the North-Western and the North-Eastern India where the Muslims form the majority. The scheme stands against the Indianization policy of the congress. The socialist theories and the Pakistan ideologies are similar in character and Pakistan will introduce in India the methods of satisfying the claims of minorities on the basis of the principle of self-determination. Suggests three autonomus states, viz., Western Pakistan, Hindustan, and Eastern Pakistan. Published by Hamida Khatun, 4, Antonybagan Lane, Calcutta. 1943. (16-12-1943.) Pages 8+238+5. WHEREAS it is expedient further to vary for a certain period the rate of the totalisator tax leviable under section 15 of the Bengal Amusements Tax Act, 1922 and the rate of betting tax leviable under section 18 of the said Act as amended, respectively, by clauses (2) and (3) of section 2 of the Bengal Finance Act, 1945; Ben Act V of 1922.

AND WHEREAS by the Proclamation, dated the 31st day of March, 1945, issued under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Governor of Bengal has assumed to himself all powers vested by or under the said Act in the Provincial Legislature; Ben. Act II of 1945. 26 Geo. V, c.2

NOW, THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers so assumed to himself, the Governor of Bengal is pleased to enact as follows:—

Short title, extent and duration.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Finance (No. II) Act, 1945.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(3) It shall remain in force for a period of one year only.

Temporary amendment of Bengal Act V of 1922.

2. During the continuance in force of this Act,—

(1) in section 15 of the Bengal Amusements Tax Act, 1922 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act) as amended by clause (2) of section 2 of the Bengal Finance Act, 1945, for the words "ten per cent." the words "fifteen per cent" shall be deemed to be substituted; and the betting tax imposed under the said section 18 shall be charged, levied and paid to the Provincial Government accordingly.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to raise additional revenue by enhancing the rates of the totalisator tax and betting tax leviable under the Bengal Amusements Tax Act, 1922, as amended by the Bengal Finance Act, 1945, from 10 per cent. to 15 per cent.

THE BENGAL PUBLIC GAMBLING (PENALTIES ENHANCEMENT) BILL, 1945.

to enhance the penalties provided by law for the punishment of certain offences relating to wagering or betting upon a horse-race.

WHEREAS it is expedient to enhance the penalties provided by law for the punishment of certain offences relating to wagering or betting upon a horse-race;

AND WHEREAS by the Proclamation, dated the 31st day of March, 1945, issued under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Governor of Bengal has assumed to himself all powers vested by or under the said Act in the Provincial Legislature; 26 Geo. V, c. 2.

NOW, THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers so assumed to himself, the Governor of Bengal is pleased to enact as follows:—

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Public Gambling (Penalties Enhancement) Act, 1945.

Punishment for offences of illegal wagering or betting upon a horse-race.

2. (1) Whoever commits an offence punishable under section 10 of the Howrah Offences Act, 1857, or under section 44 of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866 or under section 3 of the Bengal Public Gambling Act, 1867 relating to wagering or betting upon a horse-race may, in lieu of any punishment to which he is liable under the said sections, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months or with fine which may extend to five thousand rupees or with both. XXI of 1857. Ben. Act IV of 1866. Ben. Act II of 1867.

(2) Whoever having been convicted for an offence specified in sub-section (1) shall be guilty of any such offence, shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Act under the provisions of which he is so convicted, be punishable for every such subsequent offence with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year or with fine which may extend to ten thousand rupees or with both.

Saving.

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, it shall be lawful for any Magistrate of the first class and for any Presidency Magistrate to pass a sentence of fine exceeding one thousand rupees on any person convicted of any offence which has been made punishable with enhanced fine by this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Courts are reluctant to award a sentence of imprisonment for a first offence of illegal wagering upon a horse-race and the maximum fine admissible under the existing law cannot act as a deterrent. With the enhancement of the betting tax the temptation to illegal betting will be greatly increased and the object of this Bill is to amend the penalty provisions of the existing law with a view to make it possible for Courts to award more appropriate and deterrent penalties.

By order of the Governor,

G. M. RATCLIFF,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE BENGAL TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1945.

A

further to amend the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; VIII of 1885.

AND WHEREAS by the Proclamation, dated the 31st day of March, 1945, issued under section 93 of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Governor of Bengal has assumed to himself all powers vested by or under the said Act in the Provincial Legislature; 26 Geo. V, c. 2.

NOW, THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers so assumed to himself, the Governor of Bengal is pleased to enact as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1945.

Substitution of new section for section 49K of Act VIII of 1885.

2. For section 49K of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"49K. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, no decree or order shall be passed by any Court for the sale of the right of an aboriginal tenure-holder, raiyat or under-raiyat in his tenure or holding, or in any portion thereof, nor shall any such right be sold in execution of any decree or order:

Restriction on the sale of tenant's rights under order of Court.

Provided that any tenure or holding belonging to an aboriginal may be sold in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2) in execution of a decree of a competent Court to recover an arrear of rent which has accrued in respect of the tenure or holding.

(2) When a decree for an arrear of rent which accrued in respect of a tenure or holding of an aboriginal tenant has been passed, such decree shall be executable solely by the Collector and the Court shall, on application made in this behalf by the decree-holder, send the decree to the Collector for execution and the Collector in execution of the said decree may, in his discretion,—

(a) sell the said tenure or holding, or

(b) eject the said aboriginal tenant and settle the said tenure or holding or a portion thereof with another aboriginal tenant on payment of the decretal amount by such other aboriginal tenant, or

The Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Bill, 1945.

(Clause 2.)

(c) place the landlord in possession of the said tenure or holding or a portion thereof for a period not exceeding seven years;

and if the Collector, in executing a decree under this sub-section,—

(i) sells the said tenure or holding, he shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), follow the procedure applicable to sales of land by a Civil Court in execution of decrees for arrears of rent;

(ii) places the landlord in possession of the said tenure or holding or any portion thereof for any period, the decree shall at the end of such period be deemed to have been satisfied in full and the Collector may then restore the said tenure or holding or portion to the aboriginal tenure-holder, raiyat or under-raiyat, as the case may be, against whom the said decree was executed or to the successor in interest of such tenure-holder, raiyat or under-raiyat or may settle it with another aboriginal

Provided that no portion of a tenure or holding shall be sold or settled by the Collector under this sub-section if such sale or settlement would result in bringing the rent for such portion below two rupees in the case of a tenure or one rupee in the case of a holding

(3)(a) Before issuing a proclamation for the sale of any tenure or holding in execution of a decree referred to in sub-section (2), the Collector shall after hearing the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor divide the tenure or holding into such number of smaller areas to be specified as lots as the Collector thinks fit for the purpose of being sold separately and shall specify the lots in the proclamation;

(b) when any tenure or holding has been advertised for sale by the issue of a proclamation referred to in clause (a), each lot specified in the proclamation shall be put up to auction separately and as soon as the total amount of the bid reaches a sum sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs including the costs of sale, the sale shall be stopped and no further lots shall be knocked down, and if even after all the lots have been separately put up to auction the total amount of the bid does not reach a sum sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs as aforesaid, all the lots shall be put up to auction together.

(4) Before restoring or settling a tenure or holding under sub-section (2), the Collector may, if he is satisfied that the rent of the tenure or holding has been illegally enhanced or is substantially in excess of the rent payable by tenants of the same class for lands of the same description with similar advantages in the vicinity, pass an order altering the amount of the rent of the tenure or holding to an amount which he considers to be fair.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, where a portion of a tenure or holding is sold or settled under sub-section (2),—

(a) the Collector shall, before confirming the sale or making the settlement, distribute the rent of the tenure or holding over such portion and the remaining portion or portions of the tenure or holding and in making such distribution the Collector shall follow, as far as may be, the procedure laid down in section 88; and

(b) the division of the said tenure or holding consequent upon such sale or settlement and the distribution of the rent of such tenure or holding made under clause (a) shall, subject to the provisions of section 49M, be binding on the tenants and the landlord concerned.

(6) Nothing in this section shall affect,—

(a) any right to execute a decree for the sale of any such tenure or holding or the terms or conditions of any bona fide contract relating thereto if such decree was passed or such contract was registered—

(i) in the case of Sonthals of the districts of Birbhum, Bankura and Midnapore, before the 1st November, 1916, and

(24) Dr. N. U. A. Siddiqui.
(25) Mr. A. Subhan, Secretary.

3. The Government of Bengal are pleased to approve of the reconstitution of the Bureau Committee as recommendated by the University. The members will hold office for a period of two years.

4. There is reason to anticipate that a large number of applications will now be received from students desirous of proceeding abroad for various courses of study. The duties and functions of the Bureau will be in general as laid down in the Government resolution quoted above and in particular, to control the flow of such students by giving advice to them before they leave India in regard to such matters as the educational qualifications needed for admission to foreign institutions, the cost of course proposed, health questions, etc., for placing them in suitable institutions abroad.

5. Government particularly emphasise that for this purpose necessary intensive propaganda should be made by the Bureau and the University direct to enlighten the public generally and in particular the parents of boys and girls contemplating study overseas as to the minimum qualifications required for admission to foreign institutions and the amount of money required for the adequate maintenance of their children in the foreign countries selected. They should also be given as clear an idea as possible of the social, climatic and general living conditions abroad, in order that the student may go adequately prepared to face any differences from the life to which he has been accustomed in India, as well as some indication as to the precise advantages which the proposed course of study is likely to confer.

6. The necessary propaganda would be greatly assisted by the publication of informatory pamphlets in regard both to foreign Universities and to careers on similar lines to those which have been issued for some time past in Great Britain. Propaganda in pamphlet form should also be supplemented by radio and other vehicles of public propaganda. It is necessary that this propaganda should be extended to High Schools, etc., as well.

Order—Ordered that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and that a copy be forwarded to the Government of India.

Ordered also that a copy be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, the Registrar, Dacca University, to the Publicity Department of this Government, Secretary to the Board of Intermediate and Secondary Education, Dacca, and Commissioner of Dacca Division.

By order of the Governor,
A. M. SALIMULLAH, Asst. Secy.

24. Relettering and renumbering of Act XIII of 1943.—That Delhi Muslim Wakfs Act as hitherto amended shall be relettered and renumbered.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

When the Delhi Muslim Wakf Bill, 1941, was being considered by the Joint Select Committee of the Central Legislature, several important matters based on the public opinions received on the said Bill, were placed before it, of which some were accepted and others were left out for future considerations on the practical experience of the working of the laws. Among the important omissions, the following deserve special consideration:—

1. The omission of penal clauses against the Mutawallis of the wakf is proving a very great obstacle in the progress of the initial work of the Majlis and the result is that up till now very few Mutawallis have cared to apply for registering the wakfs under their charge, although section 43(1) provides for compulsory registration of wakfs within six months of the date of publication of the first constitution of the Majlis, which was published about a year ago. The Majlis had to extend thrice the final date of registration of wakfs but to no success.

2. The second omission was the power of the Majlis to compel attendance of witnesses and production of documents as is provided in almost all the existing laws on the subject, say section 33 of the Bengal Wakfs Act, of 1934, section 46 of the U. P. Wakfs Act, 1936, section 27 of the N.-W. F. P. Wakfs Act, 1939, and section 14 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

3. The third omission was to provide for a speedy realisation of arrear wakf dues. Due to Delhi Rent Control Ordinance XXV of 1944, tenants of wakfs estates have become a regular source of trouble and are withholding payments of wakfs arrear dues and the Majlis being in its infancy stands in need of adequate funds to run its office and establishment. Besides the wakfs properties were much mis-managed before the passing of the Delhi Muslim Wakfs Act, 1943, and were settled on nominal rental say, one anna, one and a quarter annas, and two annas a day. Over and above, cases of sub-letting are numerous. Hence the Majlis needs support of legislative measure to safeguard its legitimate interests. Some sections are consequently thought necessary to be added. The rest of the Bill provides clarification of some points of Muslim wakf laws, and hence this Bill.

be appointed by the Majlis.

32F. Inspection and obtaining of documents relating to wakf property.—The Majlis shall be entitled to authorise any Officer to inspect and obtain free of charge true copies of documents relating to wakf property under the charge of any department of Government or a local authority '.

8. Amendment of section 33, Act XIII of 1943.—In section 33 of the said Act,—

(1) in clause (c), all the words after the word "Sunni" shall be omitted.

(2) after clause (c), the following clause shall be added, namely:—

"(d) where any case for the application of the Doctrine of cypres arises, the Majlis may apply to the District Judge for an order".

(3) In clause (e),— after sub-clause (iii), for the fullstop at the end a comma shall be substituted and the following sub-clause added, namely:—

"(iv) directing in the case referred to in clause (d) that the real intentions of the wakif be carried out by such means as in the existing circumstances appear to the District Judge most appropriate".

[illegible] document or information relating to the wakf of which he is the Mutawalli which he is required to furnish under any provision of the Act.

(2) The order of the District Judge shall be final."

12. Insertion of new section in Act XIII of 1943.—After section 41, of the said Act, the following section shall be added, namely:—

"41A. Power to summon, witnesses.—For the purpose of any enquiry under this Act, the Majlis or any Officer or Committee authorised by the Majlis in this behalf, shall have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses, including the parties interested, or any of them, and to compel production of documents by the same means, and so far as may be, in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (V of 1908) and provisions relating to the service of summons shall apply to the service of notices thereunder".

13. Amendment of section 46, Act XIII of 1943.—In section 46 of the said Act,—

(a) the brackets and figure "(1)" shall be omitted, and (b) sub-section (2) shall be deleted.

No. 242-H.—22nd June 1945.—The following is republished for general information:—

OFFICE OF THE PRIVATE SECRETARY TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY.

New Delhi, the 14th June 1945.

No. 145-H.—His Excellency the Viceroy has been pleased to award the Indian Police Medal to the following officer:—

BENGAL.

Name of officer and rank.—Abdul Hamid Khan, Head Constable, Calcutta Police. Statement of services for which the decoration has been awarded.—On the 20th April 1945 at about midnight Head Constable Abdul Hamid Khan while on patrol duty heard shouts that murder had been committed and that the assailant was escaping. Almost immediately afterwards the assailant, a Punjabi, came running in his direction brandishing a knife in his hand. The Head Constable, though unarmed, closed with him and was able to hold him till assistance arrived. The Head Constable then showed great promptitude in arranging for the removal to hospital of the victim who though not dead had been stabbed severely in the chests resulting in the puncture of a lung.

The courage and initiative of the Head Constable were of a high order.

This award is made for gallantry under regulation (d)(i) of the Regulations governing the grant of the Indian Police Medal and consequently carries with it the special allowance admissible to officers and below the rank of Inspector of Police.

No. 146-H.—His Excellency the Viceroy has been pleased to award the Indian Police Medal to the following officer:—

BENGAL.

Name of officer and rank.—Maulvi Khondkar Nurul Hossain, Subdivisional Police Officer, Tangail, Mymensingh. Statement of services for which the decoration has been awarded.—Maulvi Khondkar Nurul Hossain, Subdivisional Police Officer, Tangail, received information that a gang of dacoits who had committed dacoity in Baiganj police station, Pabna, in January last and who took from there 2 shotguns, would assemble at Barinda Hatkhola on the night of the 16th April 1945, for the purpose of committing a dacoity in a nearby house. Maulvi Khondkar Nurul Hossain, collected a force of 2 Inspectors, 2 Sub-Inspectors and 15 Constables, 5 of whom were armed, and surrounded part of the gang. He then left the main road open so that the remaining members of the gang could come along. After an hour, when he saw that the dacoits were preparing to go off and that one dacoit had taken a shotgun from an umbrella and was putting the parts together, he gave the signal to his men to close in and arrest as many of the dacoits as possible. He himself went after the dacoit who had the gun. This dacoit, on seeing the force, began to run away pursued by Maulvi Khondkar Nurul Hossain. After proceeding a short distance he turned round and fired a shot from the shotgun at Maulvi Khondkar Nurul Hossain but missed him. The latter fired one shot with his revolver at this dacoit and missed, but, as the dacoit was bringing up his gun to fire a second shot, the officer was able to fire another shot from his revolver. The dacoit was hit by this bullet before he could fire his second shot. He dropped the gun, staggered about two paces, fell down on the ground and expired within three minutes.

Maulvi Khondkar Nurul Hossain showed considerable courage and devotion to duty in going after the armed dacoit who would have caused casualties amongst his force but for the prompt action taken.

This award is made for gallantry under regulation (d)(i) of the Regulations governing the grant of the Indian Police Medal.
